Carrying, headset and charging options for any work situation

ASCOM d41/d62 ACCESSORIES CUSTOMISE FOR CONVENIENCE

The Ascom d41 and d62 accessories are designed to meet the demands from many work situations. They will add that little extra to your handset that will help you to create the communication tool that you need. You can find all from different carrying options, diverse headsets for hands free use to leather cases.

Carrying options

Choose the carrying option that suites your everyday life. With the Ascom d41/d62 handsets there are several alternatives. Available is a standard clip that is easily attached to your pocket, but also a swivel-type clip that can be mounted on belts. You can also choose our customised leather case with a transparent front for protection of the handset. Available for extra security is an 80 cm long security string to be attached to the handset.

Headset options

For convenient hands free use, attach one of our headsets with the microphone on a boom or integrated in the cable. Protection plugs are available for those times when a headset is not needed.

Charging options

For quick charging, you can choose between a desktop charger for single handsets and a wall mounted charging rack for multiple handsets. Our data sheets will give you more information about each charger. If you have forgotten to charge your handset, an extra battery pack can come in handy, which can be charged in the Battery charging rack.

Central management

With Ascom's Centralized Management solution smoother upgrades and reduced downtime is created. The individual settings on each handset are stored centrally and with the IP-DECT system administration of end-user devices can be easily facilitated over the air (OTA). You can also choose to have an advanced desktop charger where the handset is upgraded in the charger.
